Bananas All Green

When They Get Here

At New Orleans and Mobile the bunches are packed in ordinary box cars and transported by fast freight to St. Louis. They are still green when received by the wholesale dealers on North Third street. These houses have fruit cellars, where the bunches are hung from a temperature of from 65 to 75 degrees. In 24 hours the skin of the banana has been turned from green to yellow and the fruit is ripe.

In emergencies the fruit cellars are heated to 80 and 85 degrees, but this is too rapid ripening and destroys the flavor of the banana.

Manager Pasteur of the local branch of the trust has just returned from Central America and is preparing to enlighten St. Louisans on the food properties of the banana.

Sugar and starch form the nutriment in the banana. Its constituent parts very closely resemble the potato and with a little salt, meat or fish, a patch of bananas a few feet square, Pasteur says, will keep a healthy workman comfortably.

The larger variety of plantain, which is generally sent south and ordered by buyers when the skins are a pale yellow and without a fleck or blemish, for eating raw simply on account of their attractiveness, should be cooked to render them perfectly wholesome.

The lemon has a decided affinity for the banana and greatly improves its flavor when the juice is added to the ripe fruit.

RECIPES FOR PREPARING BANANAS FOR THE TABLE

BAKED BANANA

These are to serve as a vegetable instead of potatoes or peas with steak, broiled chops, roast lamb or broiled chicken.

Peel a strip of skin from each banana, loosen the pulp from the rest of the skin, but do not cut it. Place the fruit in a baking pan, skin side down; for each banana melt two level tablespoons of butter in two of water and pour over the fruit; sprinkle with a little salt and sugar, a few drops of lemon juice, and if served with chicken a tiny pinch of grated nutmeg. Bake until tender and well glazed.

BANANAS IN STRIP

Put a pint of currant or strawberry juice in a saucepan of the size of a little lemon juice, add one cup of sugar and let boil up; then drop in a dozen small, peeled, ripe bananas and simmer very gently for 20 minutes. Lift the bananas out carefully and roll the syrup down until rather thick, then pour over the fruit and serve cold.

FRIED BANANAS

Peel and cut each banana in two or three strips, according to size, sprinkle with a little salt, lemon juice and apple, then dip into beaten egg, cover with fine crumbs, bread or wheat flour and fry a nice brown in deep hot fat. Serve as accompaniment to meat.

BANANA TOAST

Chop some very ripe bananas very fine, using a silver knife, season with a little salt, add sugar and lemon juice to suit the taste. Pour a little hot cream over slices of toast or zwieback, spread the bananas over the toast and serve at once.

BANANA FRITTERS

Select very ripe bananas for this purpose. Pare three and cut them in small pieces. Beat the yolks of three eggs very light and add to the bananas and beat to a pulp. Then add a tablespoonful of sugar, a tablespoonful of butter, a tablespoonful of lemon juice, and if served with chicken a tiny pinch of nutmeg and a half cup of flour, or enough to make a batter thick enough to drop small from spoon. Sift a teaspoonful of baking powder in the eggs before mixing. Beat the white of the eggs to a stiff froth and fold the batter. Drop from a spoon into hot fat and fry a light brown. Serve with a tart fruit sauce.

BANANA SALAD

Peel and slice the bananas and sprinkle with a little salt, sugar and lemon juice and set for two hours. Drain together half a cup of sugar and half a cup of butter, when quite light colored whipping a half cup of sweet, rich cream, flavored with little nutmeg or grated orange peel and pour over the bananas. Serve in crisp leaves of lettuce.

CUPID IN SARTORIS FAMILY

Vivian and Rosemary Are Reported Engaged and Algernon Will Wed Miss Davidge Soon.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Mrs. Algernon Sartoris, daughter of Gen. U. S. Grant, is about to depart for her summer home in Canada, where she expects her two daughters, Rosemary and Vivian Sartoris, who have been spending the winter in England and France with their aunt, to join her about May 1.

On their arrival it is supposed that the announcement of a double wedding soon to take place, Mrs. Sartoris, her daughter Rosemary and her mother, Mrs. S. Grant, have been unwilling to admit formally that Miss Rosemary Sartoris is engaged, and no mention of her fiancé's name has been made. But it is understood generally in society here, that she is engaged and that the wedding will take place at the same time that Miss Vivian Sartoris is married to Timothy Nichols, a popular young society man of New York.

Algernon Sartoris, Mrs. Sartoris' son, and Miss Edith Davidge of Washington will be married soon after he has passed his examination for a lieutenancy in the army, to which he has been appointed by the President. The examination will be held next month.

TO PREVENT TRAIN COLLISIONS.

New Block Signal Locks Wheels in Dangerous Districts.

CHICAGO, April 25.—The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad officials are testing a new automatic block signal service which, it is said, will prevent collisions which are due to engineers ignoring or mistaking signals.

The mechanism is so arranged that when an engineer passes into a section that is blocked against him an automatic device sets the air brakes and stops the train.

The device is operated by a battery of springs which are wound up by the vibratory motion of the rails as the engines and trains pass over them. Accordingly there is no dependence upon electricity, which is treacherous in bad weather.

In a recent test a train was run at full speed past a block which was set at "danger." As soon as the engine neared the block a section there was a grinding of a stop before its length was scarcely within the block station. Those who witnessed the trial say the contrivance will revolutionize the block signal service and decrease accidents at least 40 per cent.

ENGLISHMEN AFTER IDEAS.

Cotton Goods Manufacturers Come to Study American Methods.

BOSTON, April 25.—Six English cotton manufacturers—Henry Higonson of Blackburn, England, chairman of the North and Northeast Lancashire Cotton Spinners and Manufacturers' Association; John Taylor of Manchester and Blackburn, secretary of the association; Wilkinson Hartley of Nelson; J. Holden of Darlington, the last four also members of the organization, who have arrived here will study thoroughly the textile machinery used in this country. They remain in Boston ten days and then will visit the principal manufacturing centers both in the North and South.

GROW CASE IS LIKE JESTER'S

Both Murders Were Committed in Monroe County, Mo.

BOTH VICTIMS WERE YOUNG.

CIRCUMSTANCES IN EACH CRIME STRIKINGLY SIMILAR.

Parallel Even Goes to Characteristics of Abe Withers, Who Has Confessed and Is Defendant in Celebrated Cause.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Mo., April 25.—The grow murder case is developing into one of the most gruesome crimes in the history of the state, bearing a striking similarity to the Jester case of this county.

Grow was a young man and Abe Withers, like Jester, is a man of 55, a pensioner and comes from Kansas.

Local attorneys, among them James H. Whitecotton, speaker of the House in the General Assembly, having refused to defend Withers, he sent for Prosecuting Attorney McAllister yesterday and made a detailed confession.

Grow and Withers were cropping together on 60 acres of land among the river hills in the northern part of Monroe County. They lived in a house situated some distance from the road.

No one paid any attention to them until Grow's body was found floating in the river, where it had been about a week. It was mutilated about the head.

In his confession, Withers says he and Grow quarrelled over a question of rent and that, in a fit of rage, he killed Grow with a hatchet, striking him repeatedly about the head.

This was Thursday night of last week. On that same night he hitched up a two-horse road wagon and hauled the body of his victim three miles to the river, throwing it into the water, with the hatchet. He returned and began to remove the evidences of the crime, sweeping up the blood from the floor, washing it from the wall and chiseling it from the bottom of the wagon.

Next day he went to Monroe City, bought a can of red paint and tried to cover over the blood stains with it. He painted the broom handle and the rocking chair which the body fell into.

He remained at the scene of the crime until Thursday, when he went to the home of the boy's parents near Paris to tell them their son was "missing."

He was arrested while at dinner in the Grow home. When examined at the jail his underclothing was found to be stained with blood.

Investigations are on foot to show that Withers is twice a murderer.

It has been known to the local authorities for several years that Withers was suspected of killing a boy near Medicine Lodge, Kan., under almost identical circumstances, the two having cropped together.

His conduct is nervous, his face furtive and his light blue eyes evasive and restless. There is about him a certain though indefinable suggestion of Alexander Jester.

EGG STRUGGLE IS STRENUOUS.

Cold Storage Rivals Bid Lively for Farmers' Favor.

CHICAGO, April 25.—The struggle for the control of the eggs of the country has become the fiercest in the whole range of farm products. Every state is being searched for eggs by agents for Swift & Co., Armour & Co., and a few small dealers who have capital enough to enable them to compete with these leaders of the production world.

As a result of this competition, prices paid to farmers are rapidly advancing, and every indication points to unprecedented high prices for cold storage eggs next winter.

ALTON MAN IN A CISTERN

James Watson Was Unable to Swim, but Found Footing, and Cries Brought Him Help.

James Watson, a resident of Yager Park, narrowly escaped losing his life by falling into an old cistern at his home Thursday.

Watson came to Alton from Litchfield with his family three days ago. He moved into a house at Yager Park. Yesterday while walking over some boardwalk partially covered with dirt he broke through into an old cistern with five feet of water in it.

Watson called for help, but no one heard. Almost an hour afterward his wife, wondering where he had gone, went into the yard and called. Watson heard her, and called for help.

Men from the neighboring houses pulled Watson from the cistern.

When Watson fell into the cistern he alighted on his back, and went under the water. He was not able to swim. His feet struck the bottom of the cistern, and he found his head and a portion of his shoulders above the surface of the water.

Ernest Burke's House Robbed.

Sneak thieves offered the house of Ernest Burke, 4215 North Nineteenth street, Thursday and stole $95 from a baking powder can that was used as a savings bank. The thief gained entrance by cutting open a rear window.

So unusual were the terms of this testament and so singular in their relation to the testator that it has attracted much attention. It is said that officials of the Catholic Church to whom Col. McKee—barring a few unimportant bequests—left the estate in trust, naming Archbishop Ryan, the head of the church, are in doubt whether they shall accept the gift, which deprives his family of their proper expectations.

The testator's life effort is best illustrated by his first entry into a game of skill, which he played as a boy in Alexandria, Va. He did not rest until he had won all the marbles owned by his companions, and as far as the stock of marbles among the boys in the old Virginia town was concerned, McKee had cornered absolutely.

With this winning game, which expressed the great desire of his after life and the keynote of his character—accumulation and accumulation.

There was no romance in his life. It was simply a life of hard work and the making of money. He looked upon life and individuals from only one viewpoint, and that was what it was worth to him financially. He was devoid of sentiment and was "strictly business" in everything that he said and did. These characteristics and relations during his life extended even to the members of his immediate family. He accepted no one.

To Cure Drunkards.

A Simple Way to Cure Any Drunkard Against His Will.

By using the new and reliable remedy which is placed in the coffee or food any drunkard can be cured. Anyone can use it without the drunkard ever knowing it. ## "REPRODUCTIVE, BUT STRENUOUS"

Carmack's Reference to Roosevelt's Oratorical Flights.

LIKENED TO TENNESSEE HORSE

"RUNNING AWAY SAID TO BE HIS NATURAL GAIT."

Funston Described as "the Mightiest Sampson That Ever Wielded the Jawbone of an Ass as a Weapon of War."

WASHINGTON, April 25.—In his speech on the Philippine government bill today Senator Carmack of Tennessee quoted from speeches of President Roosevelt, charging that "treasonable" utterances had incited the Filipinos to insurrection and said that we must not judge the President in his moments of oratorical fervor or when the frenzy of battle was in his blood. The President was not vindictive, but simply "strenuous" and resembled in his habits of speech a certain Tennessean's horse of which it was said that running away was his natural gait. Mr. Roosevelt had habitually spoken of the Filipinos as "savages" and "barbarians" and "Apaches" and these denunciations had been scattered broadcast throughout the islands to inflame the people against the United States. The effect of the President's language had been to harden and intensify Filipino opposition to American rule.

Some of our military heroes had been guilty of a like offense. He referred to a recent speech of Gen. Funston, whom he described as the "Jayhawk brigadier" from the wind swept plains, the mightiest Sampson that ever wielded the jawbone of an ass as a weapon of war. Mr. Carmack said that death had cheated Funston of some illustrious victims like former Senator Sherman and former President Harrison, but there were still enough to keep him busy. Papers had quoted Funston as saying the President entirely approved his invitation from the junior senator from Massachusetts to go to Boston and talk to the people there about hanging the senior senator from Massachusetts. But the plain truth was that Funston could not hang anybody. Funston should go back to the Philippines—to the land where there was plenty of hemp and no constitution.

If men are to be hanged without regard to law for speaking words calculated to incite insurrection, said he, "the first neck to feel the strangling clutch of the noose should be the heroic neck of Funston." Ever since he had been in the Philippines he had been pouring forth tirades of indiscriminate insult against the whole people and had outrageously insulted the very men upon whom the commission was relying for aid in pacifying the country.

Mr. Carmack said that this bill, like the Philippine tariff bill, simply presented one aspect of imperialism. It was not a question of only framing just laws for the Filipinos, but a question of right to make any laws whatever for that people. "The claim of the Republicans," said he, "is that they had burned enough towns, wasted enough country and killed enough people to make good their right. The land is ours, because we have strewn it with the ashes of its homes and drenched it with the blood of its people."

Opponents of this policy denied that we had derived any just powers of government from the subjugation of the governed, and that was the real issue of this debate.

POLICE TO SHOOT CHICAGO BY WIRE

BATTLE OF THE BULLSEYE BY W. U. TELEGRAPH.

EACH WILL FIRE FIVE SHOTS

The Target Will Be Read and the Result Promptly Wired to the Other Team.

St. Louis members of the police department are in constant practice for the telegraphic shooting tournament that will take place on the afternoon of May 2 between picked teams of the St. Louis and Chicago police departments.

Articles of agreement have already been signed, and Capt. T. Rosser Roemer, who has charge of the St. Louis end, will select his team of 25 after the final practice shoot next Saturday.

The contest will begin at 12 o'clock noon May 2, and must be concluded by 5 o'clock that afternoon.

The St. Louis police will shoot at the Union shooting gallery, on the fourth floor at 18 South Third street. The Chicago police will shoot at some place in Chicago, as promptly as they are made and the standing of the contest will thus be known to all contestants at all times.

Each Contestant

Fires Fifteen Shots.

Capt. Roemer returned from Chicago, where all arrangements were completed. The American standard target will be used. Each contestant will fire 15 shots. Each contestant will be furnished with three targets, signed by the chief of the police. Chief Kieley will sign the targets to be shot at by the Chicago police and the Chicago chief will sign the St. Louis targets.

Each man will fire five shots at his target and then retire. The target will be read and the result wired to the other team. Thus each man will have three turns at shooting and each target must have five shots. If a man retires from the contest, the target will be counted as if he had missed all shots not designated on the card.

Distance to Be Shot

Will Be Sixty Feet.

The distance of the shots will be 60 feet. Representatives of the contestants will be in each city to watch the shooting. After the contests the targets will be sent to each chief of police for official decision.

Chief Kieley is taking active interest in the showing made by his men. He is assured that St. Louis will win the tournament.

There are now 25 men from whom the team of 25 will be selected. These men are: Mounted District: Capt. McNamara, Capt. Borden, Gibson, Lee, Thompson, R. Rule.

Seventh District: Capt. Creedy, Shirman, Sgt. Leary, Hancock and Burns.

Ninth District: Dryden.

Sixth District: Daniel, Jeans, Deagan and M. J. Kelly.

CONFESSES TO A MURDER.

Police Say Wardrip Admits He Shot Hugh Duffy.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, April 25.—Just before departing last night for California, Frank Wardrip, alias Wade, confessed to the officers who had him in charge that he is the man who, while robbing a house recently in Sacramento, murdered Hugh Duffy.

Wardrip confessed that he and a boy had been attempting to rob a house in Sacramento. Wardrip stated that while he was in the house Duffy attempted to catch the boy, who was watching on the outside. A scuffle ensued, during which, Wardrip says, he picked up a revolver from a dresser and shot through a window at Duffy, killing him. Wardrip then fled. He told the names of his mother and sister—Mrs. David Wardrip and Miss Nellie Wardrip—who live in Neddie, Mendocino County, Ky. As soon as Wardrip made his confession he was placed in irons, and is now on his way to Sacramento in custody of officers from California.

DEAD WIVES TWO; MONUMENT ONE

Stone Was Erected to Extol
Virtues of No. 2.

WIDOWER'S MIND CHANGED

TOMB TAKEN TO MARBLE CUTTER
TO CHANGE LETTERING.

Now the Children of Carl G. Peterson of Evanston and Wife No. 2
Have Gone to Law With Their Father.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, April 25.—Carl G. Peterson of Evanston has buried two wives. The more he reflected on their relative merits the more he inclined to the one of long ago. Therefore he went out to Rosehill and removed the imposing tombstone from the grave of wife No. 2 and took it to a stone-cutter, giving instructions that the present inscription be effaced and another be substituted which would laud the virtues of wife No. 1.

As a result Mr. Peterson is defendant in a replevin suit filed by his five children to recover possession of "one light gray granite monument." The gravestone is now in the hands of the Hansen Monument Co., and the inscription will not be altered at least until a hearing of the case on May 6.

Mrs. Matilda Peterson, wife No. 2, died a year ago. The five children are here. When Mrs. Peterson died she had not long to live she began to save money, which the children say she ordered the name of his second wife chiseled off and the name of wife No. 1 substituted. The monument dealer even intimated that Mr. Peterson wanted a paragraph complimentary to wife No. 2 appended. The dealer thought the request for the alterations queer, and refused to make them until he had secured the consent of the other members of the family.

The children, hearing of this, demanded that their father restore the gravestone to them, but he refused to give it up, and insisted that the stonecutters proceed to make the changes which he had ordered. The writs of replevin were taken out on the strength of affidavits that the father was not the custodian of the stone.

The children interested in the suit are: Mrs. T. Thompson and Charles W., Fred, Harriett P. and Catherine Peterson, all of Evanston.

The gravestone for the possession of which the suit has been filed cost $200 and weighs a ton. In removing it from the grave to the monument works Carl Peterson was assisted by the force of men he employs in his business as a mason contractor. He also took the rootstone from the grave. The children allege that he said the grave of wife No. 2 should no longer have a mark.

SCHOOL PATRONS GIVE THANKS

Letter Tells Equalization Board It Has Done a Good Work for Education in St. Louis.

H. W. Becker, general secretary of the St. Louis Public School Patrons' Alliance, has addressed this letter to the members of the St. Louis Board of Equalization: "In compliance with a unanimous resolution of the board of control of the St. Louis Public School Patrons' Alliance at its last regular meeting, Monday, April 14, I desire herewith to express to you our board's vote of thanks for the fair and equitable manner in which you have received the funds to which they are justly entitled."

Mr. Becker says for years the school through improper assessment has been deprived of the income of fully $200,000 per annum. "I have already called attention to the difference between the $200,000 returns of profit of the transit company," said Mr. Becker, "and the $200,000 of capitalization. This difference is the franchise value. But we would be satisfied to see it assessed at $200,000. I do not think the transit company is any more of a tax dodger than other franchise using corporations. What we want is what is coming to the schools and to other city institutions by means of just assessments. We have not addressed any letter of commendation to the state board, you will have noticed."

PLEGGED $50,000 TO MISSIONS

Baptist Board Adjourned After Providing for Next Year's Work.

The Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society has pledged itself to raise $50,000 within the next year. Delegates to the thirty-third annual meeting of the society left St. Louis Friday for their homes. The work of the convention closed Thursday night. During the afternoon session the following officers were elected for one year: President, Mrs. A. T. Scott of Chicago; vice-president, Mrs. Randall of Minnesota; foreign corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. Clatworthy of Evanston, Ill.; home corresponding secretary, Miss Julia L. Austin, and treasurer, Mrs. Matilda E. Kline. In the evening delegates and friends of the society heard addresses on the missionary work in China.

Another Popular Jingle.
The public may be interested to know that Mr. Lampe, the composer of the march, "Creole Belle," is exceedingly popular. He received $200 for the piece. When Mr. Lampe sent his latest success, the two-step, "Creole Belle," to his publishers it was on the condition that they give him a good royalty. Judging from the present sale of his initial success, "Creole Belle," as it has the catchy jingle that will please the public's ear.

ANOTHER Famous Masterly Stroke! TWO STUPENDOUS CLOTHING SCOOPS

Colossal purchases aggregating $110,000. The entire surplus stocks of Rothchild & Co. and Garson, Meyer & Co., of Rochester, N. Y., secured at about 60c on the dollar. The greatest triumph achieved in many months by Famous' matchless organization.

Rothchild & Co. and Garson, Meyer & Co. are both high-class wholesale tailors—their productions are noted for style, individuality, beauty and character, and stand in the front rank of America's greatest designers. Their garments will be found in the shops of the leading clothiers of this country. The cool weather this spring retarded business—they over-estimated the demand—and found themselves with tremendous surplus stocks on hand which they were anxious to unload. But few firms have an outlet for such volumes of merchandise, and still fewer have the ready money. FAMOUS, with its great chain of stores, as usual, was ready with the cash and consummated this gigantic purchase at 60c on the dollar of its cost. Just $110,000 was the amount involved in this transaction. The mammoth stocks have been divided up between our stores—FAMOUS, St. Louis, The May Co., Cleveland, Ohio, and the May Shoe and Clothing Co., Denver, Colo. About 40% of the entire purchase came to FAMOUS and will go on sale promptly at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. It will afford an opportunity to secure high grade, stylish spring suits at a price lower than has ever been named. Mere price quotations amount to but little—the choice fabrics, the perfect fitting qualities, the fine trimmings and superb tailoring must be seen to realize the importance of these values.

The entire stocks have been divided into ten lots and will be sold at the following extreme low figures, affording a saving of about 40% on the dollar.

RICHES FOR SENATOR MASON.

Young Miner Whom He Helped Makes Gold Strike.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
TACOMA, Wash., April 25.—Senator William E. Mason of Illinois will probably realize riches as the dividend on his faith in Albert A. Johnson, whom he had never seen until he gave the aid that was needed by the young miner at that time.

Johnson assured the senator that he knew of gold-bearing property that would make both of them wealthy if the senator would provide money for its development. The Columbia Hydraulic Mining Co. was formed, with Mr. Mason as chief stockholder and Johnson as manager and mining engineer. It was within the next two years, it will get $20,000 out of its gravel property in the Altin district in British Columbia.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 25.—The Republican state convention adjourned yesterday afternoon after nominating a sort of compromise ticket to satisfy the factions led respectively by Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge. It is neither strong nor weak. The crowd was not a record-breaker, but the enthusiasm was great. Money corruption is freely charged by defeated candidates, and the district committeemen said that never in the history of

MAYFIELD WOOLEN MILLS CLOTHING CO.

CAPITAL. - - $1,200,000.00.

Extraordinary Wholesale Manufacturers' Retail Sale to the Public
At 1120 and 1122 Olive Street, Saturday Morning.

We beg to introduce ourselves to the CLOTHING CONSUMERS of our city.

For many years we have manufactured Woolen Piece Goods, and made these goods into CLOTHING.

We take the WOOL as it comes from the back of the sheep; we scour it; we dye it; we spin it into yarn; we weave it into cloth; and we make it into CLOTHING.

We know what is in our Product, for we put it there; and we stand behind it.

On every piece of our goods is our guarantee—SIGNED, thereby making us LEGALLY, as well as MORALLY, liable, stating what is in it, and that IT IS AS REPRESENTED.

We have always confined our sales to merchants only, but our Immense capacity for manufacturing the best of CLOTHING, and our ability to place these Goods Direct to the Consumers at less prices than ever heard of before, together with our present stock of fresh, new, this Spring's goods, induce us now to make this DRIVE SALE TO CONSUMERS.

This sale is without either retailers' or wholesale manufacturers' profit; it is not a money-making sale at all; it is a DRIVE SALE and an INTRODUCTORY SALE as well. It would be a money-losing sale were it not for that best of all advertising, which we will get by having our goods on the backs of our local wearers and KNOWN; afterwards they will realize their merits and be glad to pay a reasonable profit, which will benefit us hereafter.

SO THE PROFIT IS ALL YOURS NOW.

It is difficult to quote prices, for the cut is along the whole line and not in JUST A FEW PLACES to advertise. This great sale will begin SATURDAY, at 8 A. M. It will not be held at our Wholesale Warerooms and Factory—Washington Av.—no room for it there—but at 1120 and 1122 OLIVE STREET. The situation is not so central as some, but it is roomy, and the rent is hundreds of dollars less per month, and this saving of expense has been figured to your profit.

We have Children's Suits as low as 43c, and Men's Suits as low as $1.28.

At the prices, of course, we make no credit charges nor tickets, and cannot deliver goods except on payment of actual delivery cost.

Our goods are especially for the great masses; CHEAP, GOOD, FINE and STYLISH; and in great variety for CHILDREN, BOYS, YOUTHS and MEN.

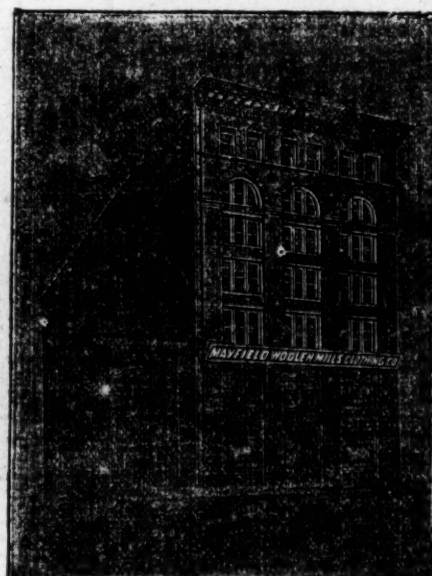

THIS IS THE CONSUMER'S OPPORTUNITY.

We cordially invite you.

ALTON ELOPEMENT RAISES STORM

LOUIS PFEIFFER'S FATHER-IN-LAW PROSECUTES.

MAKES CHARGES OF ENTICING.

Young Couple Supposed All Was Serious, and Had Gone to House-keeping in East Alton.

Bertha Norris, aged 17, and Louis Pfeiffer, aged 20 years, came to St. Louis last Monday and were married. Both returned to their homes in Alton that night and their troubles have been many since.

William Norris, the father of the girl bride, says he never consented to the marriage, and he will make Pfeiffer pay dearly for taking his daughter away from him.

Young Pfeiffer says that he understood that his sweetheart had received the consent of her father, and that they eloped to St. Louis merely to fool their friends.

Thursday the father of the bride swore out a warrant charging young Pfeiffer with enticing his daughter away from her home. The case will come up in Police Magistrate Few's court Saturday.

The groom states that he has no fear that the charge of enticing will be sustained. He states that they are living very happy in a little home they have prepared, and that his elopement was only what many other people have done and have not been charged for.

The young man is the son of Albert Pfeiffer, a well-known resident, and is employed in the glass works in Alton.

KILLED WIFE AND CHILD.

Henry Schaub Executed for Double Murder in New Jersey.

NEWARK, N. J., April 25.—Henry Schaub was hanged here today for the murder of his wife and child. The drop fell at 10:10 o'clock. As the body fell the man's head was nearly severed and blood spurted from the neck.

Schaub was a barber, but did not work steadily and was dissipated. His wife made arrangements to leave him and when he learned of her determination he killed her and their child. He cut his own throat, but not enough to cause a serious wound.

ATLANTIC STEAMERS WILL BE REAL FERRY LINES.

How Steamers Will Cross the Atlantic Under the Daily Schedule.

Under the Plans of the Big Trust Passengers, by Aid of Wireless Telegraphy, May Always Be in Communication With Land.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Save for the possibility of seasickness, a voyage from New York to Europe will be as commonplace as a voyage from Hoboken to Christopher street, when the one-boat-a-day plan of the new ocean steamship trust is put into operation. Through wireless telegraphy, flashed from the shore to the nearest ship and thence on from ship to ship the passengers may have the news of the universe as printed in the Evening World before their eyes in extras, printed on shipboard. Shipwrecks with great loss of life will become happenings so rare that the occurrence will be as sensational as the outbreak of a volcano, wiping out cities and villages.

When boats leave New York for Europe every day, and boats leave Europe for New York every day, at no time will the ships traveling in the same direction be much over 20 miles apart. And doubtless the master minds that planned the one-boat-a-day system will so arrange it that no ship bound west will be more than 12 miles distant from some ship bound east at any time. The interchange of news from ship to ship can be continued uninterruptedly. In case of a breakdown on any of the liners word of the mishap can be flashed to the nearest vessel and relief will be on hand in a few hours.

Prototypes of John W. Gates will be unable to take advantage of prototypes of J. Pierpont Morgan in those days, for the man of the sea may have his market reports, his confidential messages, his mental grasp of the whole world placed within his reach as completely on shipboard as in his New York office. It is not unreasonable to suppose that the Oceanic Gazette, for instance, will be issuing morning and evening extras through the day at times dependent upon the importance of the news flashed by ship relays from New York or England.

What a change from the old days when all of New York went to the Battery to meet the packet, 15, 17 or more days out of Liverpool! The departure of a steamship will eventually become of no more importance than the departure of a ferryboat for Staten Island. The surcease from affairs of business sought by many in an ocean voyage will become impossible. There will be flickers in every smoking room, newspapers on every deck, and the news of a great happening in New York or London will be known 1500 miles out at sea as quickly as in Harlem.

The Oak Hill baseball team defeated the Blue Bunch Sunday by a score of 11 to 5. They would like to hear from all clubs in the 15 and 16 year old class. For games address Q. Smith, 2149 Marquette road.

WEDDING SECRET MADE KNOWN

William Miller and Miss Mary Merkel of St. Louis Had to Marry in Belleville.

William Miller and Miss Mary Merkel of St. Louis went to Belleville to get a marriage license in the hope of keeping their wedding a secret. They tried to get married in St. Louis on the Illinois license, but could not and had to make another trip to Belleville to get married.

For reasons of their own the couple wanted to keep their wedding a secret for a time, and Mr. Miller suggested Belleville. Miss Merkel said she did not want to get married there.

Mr. Miller said they would get the license in Belleville and get married in St. Louis. Miss Merkel agreed to this and three days ago the couple went to Belleville and procured a license. When they applied to a St. Louis justice to marry them they were told that the license would not do.

The objection of the girl to being married in Belleville was overcome. Justice Wangelin married them Thursday afternoon and they returned to St. Louis.

ANCIENT TOMBS GIVE UP RELICS

AMERICAN EXPEDITION FINDS MUMMY 5000 YEARS OLD.

RARE NECKLACES SECURED

Pair of Well Preserved Sandals Shows Egyptians Knew the Art of Stamping Leather.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. BERKELEY, Cal., April 25.—A mummy, wrapped in cloth and goat skins, was found last month in Egypt by Dr. George A. Reisner, who is in charge of Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst's expedition for the University of California.

The mummy is that of an Egyptian, probably a man of importance, who lived in the time of the sixth dynasty of kings, which flourished about 3000 B. C. The clothing and preparation of the mummy make it an unusual find, as the time was long before the period when the Egyptians attained their skill in the preservation of bodies.

Evidence of other burials were found, but all interments were in baskets or in jars. They date from the sixth to the eighth dynasty of kings.

Many other rare and valuable antiquities have been discovered in the last month by the expedition. A letter just received at the university from Dr. Reisner enumerates a long list of objects discovered in the excavations in the old cemeteries near Giza, where the expedition has done most of its work. Most of them are from the sixth dynasty. Among them are two necklaces of gold, ivory, carnelian and glass amulets and beads of great beauty. There was an ivory cup with handles, ivory combs and seals of ivory. An interesting discovery was two pairs of leather sandals, one pair of which showed that the Egyptians were pressing into the material. On the other pair the designs were etched in.

Among other things were a beautiful red polished pot ornamented with hippopotami and crocodiles done in white line drawing, a small hippopotamus amulet carved from limestone, and other specimens of the white line pots. There were two fine lots of beads, including amulets of ivory, carnelian and glass, flint knives, a small basket and several slate palettes. A fine limestone statue with a line of inscription running down the back was found, but, unfortunately, the legs were missing. With it was found a wooden statue of the same man.

PHYSICIAN AND PATIENT HELD

Juliet Manire Arrested at McIntyre Home.

INSTRUMENTS WERE MISSED

NURSE SAYS DR. GROSBY HAD ASKED FOR THEM.

He Was Conducted to Four Courts, Where Chief Desmond Commenced Inquiry Into Circumstances.

Dr. Herman Grosby of 467 Pinney avenue and Juliette Manire, recently a boarder at the home of the late Dr. J. H. McIntyre, 551 Lindell boulevard, were conducted by special officers at noon Friday to the Four Courts, where an inquiry was commenced into the recent disappearance of a collection of surgical instruments from the McIntyre home.

Miss Manire was taken to the Four Courts from the Ewing Avenue Police Station, where she was conducted at an early hour Friday morning. Dr. Grosby was seen at his office shortly before noon by Special Officers McCormack and McCluskey, and was requested to accompany them to the office of Chief Desmond.

The instruments were the former property of Dr. McIntyre, who died April 10. Dr. Grosby attended him in his last illness.

Miss Alice McIntyre, daughter of the dead physician, and Miss Susan Nolan, who was associated with him as a trained nurse, were the complainants against the young woman and the physician.

Miss Manire refused to make any statement. Dr. Grosby said that he had taken the instruments, to the value of $15 or $20, in partial payment of his bill against the family. This, he says, was agreed upon between himself and Miss Nolan. After taking the instruments, he said, he was told by Miss Manire that Miss Nolan and Miss McIntyre objected to their removal. He says that he then sent the instruments back by Miss Manire, who had given them to him in the first place.

The status of Miss Manire in the McIntyre household is a matter of disagreement between Dr. Grosby and the complainants. They say that she was a boarding patient of the late Dr. McIntyre, while Dr. Grosby says that she was his own patient, and was only a boarder at the McIntyre home. "She is a perfect lady," said Dr. Grosby, "and is the victim of persecution."

Dr. Charles Grosby, a dentist, accompanied his brother to the Four Courts, and manifested great interest in the case. He repeated the statement that Miss Manire was a victim of persecution, and added that jealousy was a motive for the action taken against the young woman.

Edwin V. McIntyre, son of the late physician, and organist of the Second Baptist Church, was informed of the arrest Friday morning, after the two ladies had started for the warrant office.

Mrs. Nolan says that a few days after Dr. McIntyre's death, which occurred on April 10, Dr. Grosby asked for a number of surgical instruments, saying that they would bring nothing if sold.

"I told him," said Mrs. Nolan, "that I knew the instruments to be valuable. They were parts of the doctor's apparatus, and which was worth nearly $200. I told Dr. Grosby to wait until the instruments were appraised before he sold them."

"He did not seem satisfied, and on his later visits to the house he again asked for some of the instruments. I refused to allow any of them to be taken from the house."

Dr. Grosby was acquainted with Miss Manire, who had lived near his home before she came to the McIntyre home, as a boarding patient. Monday afternoon Miss McIntyre and I left the house, and she was there alone. When we returned, I found once found that a large number of the instruments, including lances, forceps, suture needles, and other valuable appliances, had been removed. I asked her who had been in the house, and she said Dr. Grosby had been there, but said he had taken nothing away.

"I went to Dr. Grosby's home the next day to get his signature to the doctor's insurance papers. Neither of us spoke of the instruments."

"The next day I told Juliet Manire that if the instruments were not returned to me, I would hold her personally responsible for them. I gave her to understand that I knew where they were, and that I would be brought back."

"Wednesday morning she left the house, and Thursday morning the missing instruments were back in their place, or at least a part of them were. I am sure that many valuable articles are still missing, and it was to recover them that I was arrested. Miss McIntyre and I will apply at once for two warrants, one against this woman and against Dr. Grosby."

Miss Manire told Dr. McIntyre that she lived in Little Rock, Ark., and had been boarding at 408 Pinney avenue, St. Louis.

"BED SLAT IS A DEADLY WEAPON"

THIS IS THE RULING OF MAGISTRATE HENDER.

MAGGIE WILSON WIELDED IT.

"Hurrah, When Maggie's Gone,"

Chanted the Children, Then Mrs. Moore Saw Stars.

Magistrate Hender of East St. Louis ruled Thursday afternoon that a bed slat is a deadly weapon, and bound Mrs. Maggie Wilson over to the grand jury on the charge of using that weapon on the head of Mrs. Rosella Moore.

There were a lot of witnesses in the court to tell the magistrate how the unique deadly weapon happened to be used.

According to them Mrs. Wilson is 38 years old, and has been married for 15 years. She is a French Canadian, and her husband is a French Canadian, and his method of illustrating in this wise the movement of the earth is accounted one of the most brilliant experiments in the history of science. A St. Louisan has laid before the Paris Astronomical Society some new theories concerning the great Foucault pendulum, and the society will test these by swinging the pendulum again. This is an illustrated story in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

Maggie's sister Myrtle attacked the marching column and there was a scuffle. Alice Moore, the 15-year-old daughter of Mrs. Rosella Moore, threw a rock and hit Myrtle in the head. Mrs. Moore then hit Myrtle on the head with a broom, and she was taken to the hospital.

Maggie came on the scene at that juncture, and she was seen passing between the porch of the two houses when Maggie seized a bed slat which was standing on the porch and brought it down on Mrs. Moore's head.

Little came and found a scalp wound and a slight concussion of the brain. Mrs. Moore swore out a warrant charging assault on the person of Mrs. Moore, and the preliminary took place Thursday before Magistrate Hender.

It was established to the satisfaction of the magistrate that a bed slat was a deadly weapon and that Mrs. Wilson wielded it against Mrs. Moore, and he held her for the grand jury in $300 bond.

When the state rested Black went on the stand for himself. He told of having been arrested by a man whom he knew only as "Jay" to get the cash he had for him. He made rather a good impression with his story, but there was nothing to substantiate it and the magistrate bound him over in $300 bond.

Black said if he had to face another trial in the Circuit Court he would have a lawyer defend him.

THE FOX CHASE

Mine eyes have seen the great Corolla, The Raphaela, the Gainsborough; The art of artists great and small— Mine eyes have looked upon it all; But never bath a picture thrilled The soul of me, all wonder-filled, As that beheld when, boy in frocks, I saw the hounds pursue the fox Across my grand old clock of clocks.

"The dogs are gaining, sonny. See How much they've gained since it was 31! And, pitying, I'd say: 'Poor fox!'" And, breathless, watch the clock of clocks. The fox was red, the hounds were gray, They always ran from back of day; For, early as I'd often go, To see them start, Grand old clock would crow: "Too late! They started long ago!"

Also, no more we have such clocks; The hounds, no doubt, have caught the fox.

The old clocks had a great pendulum, but none had any such pendulum as that which will be swung in the Pantheon at Rome this summer to test the theories of a St. Louis scientist concerning the diurnal motion of the earth. The Pantheon is 282 feet high. Fifty years ago a pendulum reaching from the top of its great dome was swung by Foucault, a French physicist, and his method of illustrating in this wise the movement of the earth is accounted one of the most brilliant experiments in the history of science. A St. Louisan has laid before the Paris Astronomical Society some new theories concerning the great Foucault pendulum, and the society will test these by swinging the pendulum again. This is an illustrated story in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

On those love belated The wedding ring hath made, Creator, Lord, Redeemer, In majesty arrayed, We praise thee for the spring time, And all its golden hours, For love and sparkling fountains, For summer, birds and flowers.

This is the third stanza of a song which will interest several days ago. Thursday night the hymn was sung by Fanny Crosby, author of more popular hymns than any other hymn writer of this or another day. Up to this time Mrs. Crosby has only written the words for hymns, but now, after writing words for upwards of 500, she writes both words and music for a spring hymn to be published in tomorrow's Sunday Post-Dispatch.

Women are to have a prominent part in the construction of the Fraternity building at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. St. Louis has, proportionately, more fraternal women than any other city in the country. So it is eminently proper that the first great work undertaken in common by American club women should be the construction of a fraternity building for this exposition in the first city of American club women. A story to be published in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch tells what the women are going to do. It is illustrated with pictures of the leaders.

Eight hundred St. Louisans are affiliated in the perpetration of the drama of the Fatherland in St. Louis. It is one of the principal folk interests in the fourth city of the New World, and will be fully set forth and illustrated in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

It will be warm enough to make us wish we were with Harry de Windt. Do you know where he is? He is up in Siberia, trying to come from Paris to New York upon an entirely overland route which he considers practicable. His latest letter to the Sunday Post-Dispatch will be published next Sunday. It was written 60 days ago in a Siberian village where the temperature was 79 degrees below zero. The explorer was then 300 miles from the Transiberian Railroad, which he had left south of him as he worked his way toward the point where he expects to cross the Bering Strait upon the ice. The photographs which illustrate this story were taken by a member of the expedition, and came out with the letter.

Columbus G. Usually Lies the crowned head; Here comes a man Whose New World plan Makes you lucky dead. The ocean blue Which, crossing, you Used ships a goodly fleet, This fellow, too, Shall o'er, like you, Not never leaves his feet? Oh, oh, Ze great Columbus! Won't you feel like Thunder When you find out You might have walked?

Pictures of the graduating classes of the Missouri Dental College and the American Medical College will be published in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

The St. Louis Knights of Pather Mathew will make an exhibit at the Cork convention of their order. This is an illustrated story to be published in the next Sunday Post-Dispatch.

BISHOP JANSSEN HONORED. Fourteenth Anniversary of His Consecration Celebrated at Belleville.

Bishop Janssen of Belleville is celebrating the fourteenth anniversary of his consecration as bishop. Thursday night there was a gala performance by the St. John's Young Men's Society at the St. John's Catholic Church. There was a very large attendance. Bishop Janssen, attended by the clergy of the diocese, was guest of honor.

The religious observance of the anniversary took place Friday. At 9 o'clock solemn high mass was celebrated at the cathedral with the bishop on his throne, and by the local and visiting clergy. A meeting of the diocesan consultants was held after the services and the clergy were entertained at dinner at the episcopal residence.

At noon Friday the commissioners adjourned without announcing their decision in the hearing, acting as counsel for the commission.

The Mobile & Ohio Railroad was notified by the hearing several days ago. Thursday night J. P. Poe, general traffic manager, and E. L. Russell, general counsel, came to St. Louis to attend the hearing. Commissioner Prouty said that he and Commissioner Eifer and Mr. Marchand would leave St. Louis for Washington, D. C., at the conclusion of the M. & O. hearing and he added that no further hearings were contemplated in St. Louis at present.

Special Agent Marchand conducted the hearing, acting as counsel for the commission.

CHESS PLAYED BY CABLE FLASH

College Clubs in America and England Begin Tourney.

BOSTON, April 25.—The fourth annual cable chess match between the American College Chess League, consisting of the clubs of Columbia, Harvard, Yale and Princeton universities and the chess clubs of Oxford and Cambridge, began today. The gymnasium of the Boston Athletic Club has been handsomely decorated for the event. Six large boards with movable pieces have been arranged behind the tables of the players so that the spectators may follow the progress of the games as the moves are made at this end and at the British Chess Club, Whitehall Court, London, where the British chess players are seated.

The three previous matches were played in 1900, 1901 and 1902. The first match was played at the Knickerbocker Athletic Club in New York. This year, however, the students' association of the Boston Athletic Club, a local club, has taken much interest in chess of late years.
